

How To Get Started In Spirituality - Part 15

God wakes up at 3.30 am in the morning. He takes a stroll from New York to Mumbai. He covers this distance in less than forty five minutes. Maybe he stops the clock during that time, who knows ! He then opens an envelope. It has six names written on it. "Wake them up !" he orders the angels. The angels enter into the mind of these six chosen people and clean the lenses of these individuals. They become God's favourite child instantly! God then opens his laptop and checks his mails. 13,45,678 messages from all his devotees worldwide are waiting in his inbox. He closes his eyes and chooses one more person from this email list.... "Wake this person up !" he orders the angels. This seventh person could well be you !. Here is reason why.....

The six names which God calls out everyday have already been predetermined based on your karma and past actions. We do not know when our name would appear on that hot list. We can only hope and pray for the best and carry out our duties in the most respected and adorable fashion. We have very little clue of the good and bad we have done since our progress from being an amoeba to taking a human form. But there is another chance of sneaking in early and having our name being called out by God. God chooses the seventh person randomly

The choice of the seventh person by God is not based on any of your past actions at all. No one has any clue of how He chooses this seventh person but it has been spiritually proved that this is not based on any of your past actions. We can only guess His various ways of choosing the seventh person. But I can share with you a spiritual trick which will significantly increase your chances of being the seventh person.

Let's say you check your emails and you see 13,45,678 messages waiting to be read in your inbox. Which of these will you read? How about if you receive one more email in your inbox when you are online?. There is a huge chance that you might read that one mail which popped in when you were online, right ! In any case we glance through the first ten emails for sure. God too does the same my dear friend ! He wakes up at 3.30 am and at 4.15am He checks his emails. If you pray to Him or carry out any of His favourite activities at 4.00 am in the morning your message would be in the top ten. There is a huge chance that He might read it. The probability is very high and if you do that religiously for a couple of months or years there is no reason why your name would not figure in the list of the seventh person. It's very simple and straight forward...

We all think about God quite late in the day. If you reach Him any time after 4.30 am in the morning you would have missed the chance of having your message being in the top ten messages waiting in His inbox every day. You can reach Him as many times during the day but if you don't get Him at 4.30 am the chances are your message will never be read. They would figure very low down the order and would escape His attention. You would then have to wait for your name to appear in the list of six people mentioned in the envelope. But these names are predetermined and the odds are highly against you to appear in that list of six people. The waiting list in this case might even be a few thousand years who knows! But you can very easily get the seventh slot within a couple of months It is certain that you will get through if you follow this ancient trick. This is based on my humble spiritual experience and learning from the great masters...

Try it out and if it fails I am at your mercy....It never will... I guarantee you. This method works. God will call out to you very soon. He has no choice.... Starting tomorrow Call out for him at 4.00 am in the morning, my dear friend. Very few people will share these secrets with you... Think about all these with a calm mind. See you at 4.00 am tomorrow morning!

By the way do you have any clue of what it means when I say " God wakes you up"
