

Secrets To Attract Women

Whenever a new movie featuring Brat Pitt or Orlando Bloom is released, tons of girls would go to the movies and ogle and scream over how handsome or good-looking they are on screen. This may instil mindset that girls only go for looks, but the truth of the matter is that girl do look beyond looks and what really wins a girl's heart is your character and personality. Want to know how to attract women in ways other than through boyish good looks? Read on to find our more!

Women love guys who take note of their own body language. You have to be in control of your actions in order to chase the girl of your dreams. Women are not dumb blondes who know nothing other than to ogle at cute men. Girls do have standards and I am sure you have seen men who look dashing yet do not have the body language to uphold their standard. It just irks women to see men possessing poor body language and trust me, women are good at picking out your body language. Thus, it is important to take note of your body language when going out on a date, to consistently portray a positive outlook

This may be weird, but women actually prefer their men to be loud! Don't go pointing your finger at me and accusing me of blasphemy, it is proven! Women are attracted to men who are able to speak their mind and are confident in their speech. Some men actually do not hit off with women well as they are just too timid to talk. The ability to speak loudly and confidently makes you seem manlier and women love that! Also, while conversing with girls, offer your own opinions and insights about certain issues. This portrays you as an intelligent man who is up to date with the news and this only increases your charm. All in all, the main thing is also to let your natural presence be felt without having to fake your personality.

Women love it when they have a man who is decisive and is in the lead. You have to learn to be in the front seat instead of hiding behind other people's back. Stand out! Talk! Don't attend a party just to blend in with the wallpaper. Being friendly helps you exude your confidence and women are drawn to this. Beware though, some people may be overly outgoing and eventually that would deter woman from knowing you even further as they might have an impression that you are a playboy. Be loud, but not too loud, that turns women off too.

One other secret to attracting women is to improve your speech. Communication is the key to any relationship and would it not be embarrassing if you constantly fumble over your own words or are at a loss of words as you do not know how to reply back to her? Constantly tripping over your words just portrays you as a person who is not confident and someone who does not speak up much.

For some girls, they may still like that as they see beyond the flaws in character, but in most cases, that is a turn off for girls. Also, the content of your conversation is a reflection of who you truly are. A person constantly babbling about slapstick jokes only would mean that he is a people without substance. Be cheeky, in a good way, and provide humour in a natural and funny way that makes her laugh. Humour without laughter is as good as bread without jam.

Above mentioned is just the icing on the cake. The secrets to attracting women are not restricted to just these few methods. Also, women are basically all different in nature. Different girls prefer different kinds of guys. Keep trying and don't quit!
