

Lovely Weddings....

Weddings are such a fun time in life. Choosing the colors, the food, the flowers, the cake, the centerpieces, the venue, the setting and mood, the music, your dress, and the decorations is such a thrill and is really a once in a lifetime opportunity.

Planning for such a big event can be taxing, however, it is exciting as well. As you are planning a party for so many people there are many things to keep in mind. What is the season where my wedding will be held? Answering just this one little question will help you in so many ways as in what colors to use in the wedding, what food is appropriate, etc. For instance, a summer wedding in Arizona would call for lighter colors. Light sage green, with some silvers, gold's, and accented with dark purples. The food would typically call for lighter food. If doing appetizers fresh fruits, meat rolls, vegetables, and crepes, are most commonly used. If doing a full dinner then it would be best to have salads and fresh fish.

If doing a winter wedding in a cooler area, such as Utah or New York the colors would call for rich deep colors; blacks, dark purples, deep reds accenting with silvers & gold's. The food would typically call for heavier foods such as Pasta Dinners, Rolls, and Steaks, etc.

Make sure when you're planning the décor, food, and colors that it makes sense with the surrounding and weather. It will make the evening much more enjoyable for you and your guests.

Once you have planned the wedding with the colors, the food, the flowers, the cake, the centerpieces, the venue, the setting and mood, the music, your dress, the entertainment and the decorations and once you've really gotten most of it figured out you will need to make your next priority in making sure that your wedding is documented correctly. This is where the just recently talked about Videography comes in. Videography is a wonderful way to document your beautiful wedding day.

As with Photography you get still shots of the wedding day. However, with wedding Videography you get just a bit more than a still shot or a shot of the wedding day, you get voice, a movement, and music. It's a much more emotional and a much more wonderful way to remember and to document your picturesque wedding day.

With Videography you get to hear those special toasts and speeches with all the emotional felt behind those beautiful words. You get to watch you and your new spouse dance that first dance with all the twirling and sweet tears. You can watch you dance with your parents, cutting the cake and getting messy accompanied by all the laughter and songs. The ceremony is particularly important to catch on video. Capturing all those wonderful words spoken by the preacher and by your spouse, words that you will want to remember for a lifetime. So many little things happen at weddings that you will be so happy that was captured on film so that you always remember them and share with generations to come.

When planning your wedding, don't forget to find that perfect Videographer that can help you in your own style, document the most wonderful day of your life. Also, don't forget to watch for the season when planning your special day. Coordinating the colors and food of your Wedding with the season and time is very important and will make it a very memorable experience.
