

Pick Up Artist - How To Pick Up A Sexy Woman In 5 Easy Steps

Picking up women in general is not an easy task for everyone. As with anything in life, you will fail before you succeed. Many guys have had serious success picking up any women of their choosing. This article will show you a few easy steps to picking up sexy women.

1) Survey the scene.

The first and foremost thing you must do before approaching any woman is to survey the scene. The things you want to look for are any of her friends, competition from other guys, and even the type of objects in that specific area. For the most part, you will have to change your game a bit if she is at the bar, sitting on the couch, or standing in an area alone. A lot of guys will tend to change their tactics based on the situation. Some guys will even act really immature and use the same exact tactics in every situation.

2) Size up the competition.

More times than not, there will be heavy competition from other pick up artists such as yourself. Here is the thing; if you are a beginner you will feel some type of intimidation from more experienced guys. For example, if a beginner sees a woman he wants to approach and an "expert" gets there before him, he will give up the chase and retreat. However, if you are a more experienced pick up artist with a lot of confidence, you can easily go over there and literally take over the conversation and dominate. It all depends on your level of experience and confidence. You will need to make the judgment call on this one.

3) Proceed with caution and confidence.

The biggest turn off to any woman in almost any situation, is low confidence. For a lot of beginner pick up artist, this is a major problem. They tend to feel as though they must look or dress a certain way to attract women. The fact of the matter is that it does not matter how you look. If you are comfortable in your own skin and show it with grace, women will be attracted to you no matter how you look. This does not mean to look dirty and nasty, but you get as much as you put in. If you do not care about how you look and do not take care of yourself, then women will not really even bother to look at you.

4) Strike up a light playful conversation with time constraints.

After you are successful in the initial approach, it is time to start a playful conversation. Keep in mind that this is not the time for heavy speeches or politics; you are only trying to get to know her opinions and thoughts on innocent subjects. These things can include thoughts on relationships, fashion, and drinks. Another thing to remember is to never stay too long in a conversation. If you are an experience pick up artist, you will have no problem with this rule. A beginner, tend to stay too long and, depending on the girl, bore her to tears. This part has a great deal to do with the woman you are approaching. She may really love having the conversation with you and do not mind the time it is taking. Who really knows?

5) Be sure to get contact information without immature begging.

The final step after you have succeeded with the previous steps is to close and get contact information. The one thing to make a woman "run away" is to beg like a little boy for her number. You will need to pose a small question or alter your tactics to do this in an innocent way. Sometime the woman you have approached will automatically exchange numbers because she really wants to get to know you better. If you get her number try to keep the excitement internal and exit out of the situation. If you tend to stay too long, things might get a bit awkward and go south. Give her a call the next day and take things in your own hands.

About the Author

For more information visit these two websites: The Pick Up Artist and eBay Business Website. You can also get information on internet business here: Earn Money Online

Source: www.isnare.com

Source: <http://articles.exospy.com>