

Things You Must Know Before You Buy Your NFL Jersey

So you're an NFL fan and you love NFL jerseys. Perhaps you're looking for a great NFL jersey for yourself, maybe you'd like to buy a great looking jersey for a gift. But there's a few things you need to know before you rush out to buy your first NFL jersey.

There is a wide range of prices for NFL jerseys, and it pays to know how, why and where the prices vary, what you want to buy and where you should get it at the cheapest price. If you're looking for a cheap NFL Jersey you need to know a few things.

There are a number of different types of NFL jerseys. Authentic NFL jerseys are generally the most expensive and can be the most sought after, but will be of good quality.

An authentic NFL jersey should be as good quality as you would find in the jerseys worn by the NFL players themselves. They are a heavyweight fabric and have all the graphics sewn on, including the numbers, and should last for years. You can also get authentic customized NFL jerseys. You select the name and number of the NFL player you want on the jersey and this is custom ordered for you exactly how you want it. This can take some time because obviously it has to be made one off specially for you but it means that you get exactly the right NFL jersey for you. This is a great way to order your jersey but not cheap.

If you can't afford an authentic NFL jersey you can go one step down and order a premier NFL jersey. These are cheaper than the authentic NFL jerseys which is great, but are not of the same quality that you get with the authentic jersey. A premier jersey is made of lighter material and is usually nylon/polyester. It has sewn on numbers and names but doesn't have the same quality of material as an authentic jersey. It should look just as good as an authentic jersey, but is made cheaper. A good option if you want an authentic jersey but just can't afford it.

And cheaper again is a replica NFL jersey. These jerseys are made from thinner fabrics so won't last as well as the more expensive authentic jerseys, but are much cheaper. The graphics and numbers are not sewn on but are screen printed instead, a cheaper process.

A good authentic NFL jersey isn't cheap, but there are ways to get cheap authentic NFL jerseys if you know where to look online. However you can pay up to $300 in some offline stores, so if the cost of buying an authentic NFL jersey is a problem for you then you need to spend a little time online. There are always better options when it comes to buying NFL products online, and if you know where to look you'll pick up a great authentic NFL jersey online at a price that might rival a cheap replica jersey in an offline store.

Happy searching and enjoy your NFL jersey when you get it. Be proud of it.
