

San Francisco Tourist Attractions

San Francisco is one of the most popular cities in California to visit. If you have thought about planning a holiday to San Francisco, you may have wondered what there is to do here. Luckily, there are lots of fun things which can be found in this city. Here are some of the most popular San Francisco tourist attractions that you may want to consider visiting when you plan a vacation in this city.

Golden Gate Bridge

One of the most well known San Francisco tourist attractions is the Golden Gate Bridge. When you visit San Francisco, you won't want to miss out on this famous bridge. Some tourists prefer to walk it, others prefer to bike it and some choose to simply get a glimpse of it. No matter what you decide, you will want to make sure that you see the Golden Gate Bridge for yourself when you visit San Francisco.

Aquarium of the Bay

Are you planning to bring children along when you visit San Francisco? If so, you will probably want to find something that will keep them occupied. Children - as well as adults - love animals and marine life. This is why you will want to make sure that you stop at the Aquarium of the Bay. Here, you will find at least 20,000 aquatic animals - any nature lover's dream! This is one of the San Francisco tourist attractions that the whole family will be able to enjoy!

Museums

There are so many different museums which can be found in San Francisco. While you enjoy your stay, you may want to check out a few of them. Ranging from the San Francisco Museums of Modern Art to the Chinese Historical Society to the Cartoon Museum, there is bound to be at least one San Francisco museum which is of interest to you.

Alcatraz

Alcatraz is a prison located on an island off the coast of San Francisco where Al Capone was an inmate at one point. While you are in San Francisco, you can take a ferry out to the prison to see it. If you really are interested in this San Francisco tourist attraction, then you may want to think about taking a complete tour of the prison.

Keep in mind that these are just some of the many San Francisco tourist attractions. Depending on your own personal interests, there is so much more to do in San Francisco. There are a variety of places to eat, shop, taste wine, go biking and so much more. It is safe to say that when you visit San Francisco, there will not be a single moment when you grow bored!

Six Flags Discovery Kingdom

Another one of the great tourist attractions of San Francisco that is well worthy of a visit if you are planning a family vacation, is Six Flags Discovery Kingdom. This San Francisco amusement park is sure to keep both kids and adults amused! At Six Flags, you will find all types of adventures, ranging from animals to rides.

Golden Gate Park is very high on the list of most tourists to San Francisco. This is San Francisco's largest park and even larger than New York's Central Park. The park was created in the late nineteenth century. Other popular attractions include Japanese Garden, Palace of Fine Arts, San Francisco Zoo and many, many more.
